

DO DO

Rev

A large, complex diagram or map overlaid on a grid. The grid consists of many small squares, some of which contain text or numbers. The diagram is composed of numerous overlapping lines, curves, and shapes that form a dense, interconnected network. The overall impression is that of a technical drawing or a data visualization, possibly related to a scientific or engineering project.